CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

The conference materials will be published in the form of an electronic collection of abstracts of reports with the assignment of ISBN registration number. The collection will be included in Russian Science Citation Index (RSCI) system with individual posting of abstracts on the website www.elibrary.ru. The collection will be published by the beginning of the conference and posted on the website of Siberian Institute of Plant Physiology and Biochemistry and the conference website. The materials are 1 page long. All materials accepted by the Organizing Committee will be published in the original version. No scientific editing will be provided. Authors bear full responsibility for the content and formatting of their materials. The organizing committee reserves the right to reject materials if they do not meet the formatting requirements or the conference topic.

Requirements for the design of abstracts of reports

The abstract text must reflect the relevance of the problem being studied, the main methodological approaches, and the results of the study. The file name is formed from the section number and the first author's last name and initials in the language of publication (e.g., 1IvanovII). Abstracts should be sent electronically no later than May 25, 2026, to plantstress2026@mail.ru with the indication "Abstract" in the subject line of the letter.

The abstract of the report (1 page) should be prepared in Microsoft Word in .doc or .rtf format (but not in .docx format). The text should not contain references to literature, figures, tables, or formulas. References to grant support should be provided in italics after the text. At the end of the abstract, it is possible to place up to two references to your own publications on the topic of the report (indicating the DOI, if any).

The total length of the abstract of the report should not exceed 3000 characters (without spaces).

"Journal of Stress Physiology & Biochemistry" publishes experimental articles, methods and hypotheses devoted to the physiological and biochemical responses of organisms to abiotic and biotic stress factors. Articles are published in English. The journal's website <http://www.jspb.ru/>.

Please note that abstracts will be reviewed for publication in special issues of journals only after registration and abstract submission for the conference. Participation in a conference on the topic covered by the article is a mandatory requirement for publication in any special issue. After receiving confirmation of publication eligibility, authors will receive instructions on preparing and uploading their manuscript to the relevant journal's portal. A decision on publication eligibility will be made after peer review. Thematic selection and review of materials will be conducted by members of the Program Committee and invited experts in the relevant field.
